Charlie and Jim Abrahams, 2006

“ To the extent the success of the ketogenic diet can be predicted for children with difficult to control seizures, there is no variable more significant than the dietitian. Our observation has been that hospitals which have access to experienced, knowledgeable, enthusiastic, communicative, caring dietitians have dramatically greater success than those that don't. Beth Zupec-Kania combines all those assets with a phenomenal ability to teach. Over ten years of dedication to the diet; always on the leading edge of diet advancements as well as the experience of teaching the diet at regional seminars combine to make her an invaluable asset to any ketogenic diet program. ”

Ketogenic diet seminars

Recent literature reports that 2/3 of children who are successfully maintained on the ketogenic diet gain a 50% or greater improvement in seizure control with 1/3 of these children achieving seizure freedom.

This complex diet therapy requires the expertise of a dedicated team. When poorly managed, the ketogenic diet can be ineffective in controlling seizures and cause adverse effects. Learn how to implement a successful ketogenic diet program from a dietitian who has started and managed the diet in more than 200 children.

Beth Zupec-Kania is a registered dietitian with the American Dietetic Association and has chaired the Ketogenic Diet Practice Group. Beth has authored publications and abstracts about the diet. In 1994, she developed the ketogenic diet program at Children's Hospital of Wisconsin. She designed a computer database for calculating the ketogenic diet and has authored award-winning ketogenic diet manuals for parents and professionals.
